DHARAMSHALA INSIGHTS

Situated in the mighty ranges of Himalayas and overlooking the Dhauladhar array of the mountains, stands the city of Dharamshala. The name suggests “pilgrims’ rest house”, though the city had transgressed the meaning a lot of years ago. The city has been the home for not only Indians and Hindus but also for the Buddhist followers who came down from Tibet with the Dalai Lama which gave it a global popularity and recognition. Dharamshala is a municipal council in the Kangra district & winter capital of Himachal Pradesh.

Prefect! The weather is just perfect for any body, pristine beauty all around, melting snow , clear fresh seasonal water sources get to life. It is the best season to have an extended family holiday at your holiday home.

Healing! If you believe rain has healing powers, stay in Dharamshala during monsoon. Go on unhurried walks, watch rain fall through your French windows, eat warm pakoda's and maggi at your holiday home, marvel at the myriad sky-hues and rainbows. An umbrella and a leisurely timetable will keep you in good stead. You will be surprised at how many creative travelers and artists love Dharamshala in the rains.

Adventure! Bright sunny days are followed by cool crisp nights. The temperature ranges from a maximum of 23 degrees in October to a minimum of 9 degrees Celsius in November. Dharamshala is extremely popular for outdoor adventure sports such as trekking, hiking and paragliding and this is the best season to indulge in adventure.

Festival! This is the best time to stay in Dharamshala if you want to see snow fall, have snowball fights, go sledding and get creative with fresh falling snow. In December, TIPA (Tibetan Institute of Performing Arts) organises the Himalayan Festival which attracts global followers and Dharamshala turns a melting pot of amazing cultural blend, all thanks to Dalia Lama.
